To Whom It May Concern:

It was a tremendous eye opening experience to have Rhetta Shealey of the Women's Safety Education Group present their program at our team meeting. Rhetta and Mark, her associate, gave us very informative and insightful information to use practically as we perform not only our daily routines but, especially, while we are working.

The program provides general safety tips but also goes into practical application and demonstration of some simple techniques that you may quickly use if you find yourself in a dangerous situation. It was educational yet entertaining and our market center found it to be very worthwhile.

I would recommend this organization very highly as a means for providing safety information at a time when it is high on everyone's mind.

Respectfully,

Darla Smith
